Thirty-Third Sunday of the Year

November 14, 2021

"In those days after the tribulation the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light, and the stars will be falling from the sky, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken." Mark 13: 24-32

The trees of autumn remind us that we live in an ever-changing, temporary world. The unsettling images Jesus articulates in today's Gospel, like the trees of autumn, confront us with the reality that everything in our lives - our careers, our portfolios, our bodies, our fame, will one day be no more and that our separation from them will be bitter. We can choose to stay buried in sorrow and hopelessness over the fallen "leaves" of our lives that are no more - or we can stop to realize the possibilities for new life in the "seeds" and "fruit" we may not even realize we have produced. Christ calls us to embrace, not the things of the body but of the soul, not the things of the world but the things of God - the lasting, eternal treasures of love and mercy, the joy that comes only from selfless giving, the satisfaction that comes from lifting up the hopes and dreams of others.

Come Celebrate with Your Parish Community

Saint Clement Parish is preparing to celebrate its paternal feast day. On November 20th, as we celebrate the Solemnity of Christ the King, we will acknowledge Saint Clement's important role as successor of Saint Peter. Please join us after the Saturday, 4 pm Mass for a light reception in the church hall.

A Church That Listens

Pope Francis has asked the universal Church to enter into a synodal process to discern, through a journey of listening and accompaniment, how we can be more fully a Church on mission to proclaim the Kingdom. The experience of the Diocese of Cleveland has something to share in this in its own practice of pastoral planning through collaborative engagement with the whole People of God. The Institute of Catholic Studies at John Carroll University is pleased to present a panel discussion of this earlier example of our diocese engaging in such a journey. Sr. Rita Mary Harwood, SND, previously the Secretary for Parish Life of the Diocese of Cleveland, and Mr. Rick Krivanka, previously the Director of the Diocesan Pastoral Planning Office, will share their experiences of this collaborative and consultative approach to Church life. This event is free and open to the public. In accordance with university health protocols, all visitors to campus must be masked inside university buildings. This event is sponsored by the Institute of Catholic Studies, The Department of Theology and Religious Studies and The Center for Service and Social Action at John Carroll University. This lecture will be held on November 17th, at 7:30 pm in the Donahue Auditorium, in the Dolan Center for Science and Technology at John Carroll University. Please contact the Institute of Catholic Studies at 216-397-4558 with any questions.
