ADORATION CHAPEL

Second Sunday of Lent

March 13, 2022

While Jesus was praying, His face changed in appearance, and His clothing became dazzling white. Luke 9: 28-36

Today's Gospel mirrors that struggle to do good in the face of evil, to maintain the values of God in the midst of Godless Jerusalem, to continue the work of the prophet. In our own lives, there is often a chasm of some depth between what we say we believe and how we live those convictions, between the promises we make and our commitment to work to make these promises realities. Lent calls us to take a hard look at the Jerusalems we have built, the temples and objects we worship. This forty-day journey with the Lord to Easter is a time to cross the divide between the values of God and the values we live, to re-center our lives on the faithfulness, integrity and selflessness demanded by the Gospel we have embraced.

Pray for the Deceased

Dolores Roso
Sheila McNea
Jolene Simon

May their souls and the souls of the faithful departed rest in peace.
