Nineteenth Sunday of the Year

August 7, 2022

"Be like servants who await the Master's return from a wedding, ready to open immediately when He comes and knocks... Much will be required of the person entrusted with much, and still more will be demanded of the person entrusted with more."

Luke 12: 32-48

God has given every one of us our own talents, skills and abilities, and God will call us accountable not for the breadth and depth of those gifts, but what we have done with those gifts for the sake of His kingdom. The fact is that God has entrusted each one of us with our own gifts, talents and blessings not for our own uses and aims but to selflessly and lovingly use them for the benefit of others, without counting the cost or demanding a return. The faithful disciple will lovingly use whatever he or she possesses to bring to reality God's reign of hope, justice and compassion in this time and place of ours.

To follow Jesus is to take on His attitude of service to those we love, to realize our individual responsibility to protect and maintain the earth and world we share, to appreciate the blessings that God has entrusted to us for the good of all and not just for own benefit. Christ calls us to possess the generosity of heart that enables us to recognize Him in others and treat one another accordingly.
