Twelfth Sunday of the Year

June 25, 2023

"Fear no one. Nothing is concealed that will not be revealed, nor secret that will not be known."

Matthew 10:26-33

Our own fears of change, our own struggles to make sense of a constantly evolving world too often are allowed to slowly kill our hope, our enthusiasm, our spirit. We desperately fear and strike out at whatever we don't understand, at whatever seems to overturn the life we have grown comfortable with, or at whatever threatens the vision of the world we have concocted that enables us to make some sense of life. We become the servants of our fears rather than the masters of our lives. The threat of disaster always manages to push aside the possibility of goodness, joy, justice and reconciliation. Three times in today's Gospel, however, Jesus tells His disciples not to be afraid, that we have nothing to fear before God who has proved His love for us. Christ calls us to embrace a vision of hope that is the opposite of fear - hope that overcomes our uncertainty of the unknown with the certainty of God's love, hope that transforms the Good Fridays of our lives into Easter resurrection.
